Studying in the Humanities and Social Sciences?

So What?

The So What? podcast shares the surprising and inspiring stories of students, academics and professionals in the humanities. Our pilot series explores different experiences of uncertainty and talks about ways to flourish with the unknown.

“It’s about decision making and agency and that confidence to change things. That’s what we do.”

“We don’t have a crystal ball. We can’t predict the future. Life is uncertain.”

“Be open to opportunities, pursue them, and know that uncertainty is the risk you’re taking.”
